A Brief History of the University of Waikato Te Whare Wānanga o Waikato

The University of Waikato/Te Whare Wānanga o Waikato celebrated its 40th anniversary in 2004. We embraced the opportunity presented by this significant milestone to reflect on our many achievements and successes since 1964, while at the same time looking ahead with great optimism to the future.

The University had its genesis in 1956, when a small group of visionary individuals began working towards the founding of a university for the people of the South Auckland region. A college, a sub-branch of Auckland University, was established in 1959 and in 1965, after opening its doors in 1964, the University of Waikato was officially opened by the then Governor-General, Sir Bernard Fergusson (later Lord Ballantrae).

From these modest beginnings, on what was largely farmland and with only a handful of temporary buildings and staff, the University of Waikato now employs approximately 1600 staff. We offer more than 200 qualifications and have approximately 13500 students, of whom more than 5500 complete a qualification annually. Our main campus in Hamilton covers some 65 hectares and provides comprehensive teaching, research and cultural facilities, student accommodation, banks and cafes, excellent sports and recreation amenities and extensive gardens.

The Hamilton campus is located close to a recently established Innovation Park, making us exceptionally well-placed to contribute to the local and national economies by enhancing business capability in the region and increasing opportunities for the commercialisation of intellectual property.

The University of Waikato at Tauranga provides students in the Tauranga/Bay of Plenty area with the opportunity to complete qualifications locally, with many of the programmes being provided in co-operation with the Bay of Plenty Polytechnic. We also continue to deliver programmes in various locations throughout our region and more than 20 of our qualifications are available entirely or mostly through online study.

Co-operation and collaboration are fundamental principles to the way the University of Waikato operates. We are a member of the Tertiary Education Alliance, alongside the Bay of Plenty Polytechnic, Tairāwhiti Polytechnic, Waiariki Institute of Technology, Western Institute of Technology and Wintec. This alliance is a highly successful example of a co-operative approach to education planning and provision. It provides clear academic pathways through agreed articulation, credit and contractual teaching arrangements, and as a result, students in the region can take advantage of a variety of tertiary opportunities that would not otherwise be so accessible.

We define our region in terms of the tribal boundaries of the 16 iwi affiliated to Te Rōpu Manukura. It extends from Manukau down to Wanganui, across to Kahungunu, along the East Coast up to Hikurangi, continuing up to the Bay of Plenty, to the Coromandel and back to Manukau. We sit at the heart of a community of strong regional partnerships and take pride in the extent to which we reflect and serve the strengths and interests of our region.

From its inception the University has always been at the forefront of initiatives in support of Māori aspirations, working closely with local iwi, particularly Tainui, to make the University accessible to Māori students and to foster an environment of success. Today we are proud to have the highest proportion of Māori students of any New Zealand university.

We continue to foster a culture of internationalisation, measured through the diversity of our student and staff profiles, the support and celebration of that diversity, a long-standing pride in our reputation for the pastoral care of our international students, and the measures we take through curriculum, programme design and our global networks and connections to international influences.

We are proud of our evolution into a truly New Zealand institution which, as our motto reflects, supports our country's nation-building policies and reflects our nation's identity.

The University Crest

THE UNIVERSITY OF WAIKATO
Te Whare Wānanga o Waikato

The motto, Ko Te Tangata, means 'For the People' and reflects the University's philosophy that people are central to the institution and its most valued resource. The outside red border is a stylised fern frond or pitau that symbolises new birth, growth, vitality, strength and achievement. Inside the border is the University's coat of arms. The open book surrounded by the four stars of the Southern Cross is a symbol of learning. The crest design is in the University's colours of black, red and gold.

Ceremonial Traditions

Elements of university graduation ceremonies have evolved from the 12th century when the first universities emerged in Europe. The organisation of medieval universities was modelled on the established institutions of the day – the church, the monastery, and the guild.

Latin was the language used by medieval scholars, and it is from Latin that the words 'university' and 'degree' are derived. The Latin term universitas means a guild or union and universities started as a scholastic guild – a self-constituted community of teachers and scholars.

The word graduate comes from the Latin word gradus, which means step. Admission to study a bachelors degree was the first step taken towards completing a university education. The second step was to become a 'master'. Masters were Master of Arts graduates whose degrees licensed them to teach. The Chancellor, an officer of the cathedral, originally granted teaching licences.

Ceremonial Robes

In the Middle Ages the corporate existence of universities was recognised and sanctioned by civil or ecclesiastical authority. The regalia worn by graduates and university staff today reflect this mix of medieval governance. Robes worn by the Chancellor resemble those worn by the Lord Chancellor of England. Graduates and academic staff wear gowns similar to the dress of medieval clergy. Hoods are also fashioned on an everyday medieval garment, although the coloured lining was a later addition to indicate the wearer's university and degree.

The academic gowns and hoods worn by graduates and University staff today are fashioned on everyday medieval garments.

Qualifications conferred/awarded at other ceremonies

Degree of Honorary Doctor of the University of Waikato

David Gordon Edgar was awarded the degree of Honorary Doctor of the University of Waikato on 14 June 2004 on the basis of his extensive and distinguished contribution to science, his outstanding service to the community and his strong interest in the well-being of the University of Waikato. Dr Edgar has a Bachelor of Science degree in Veterinary Science from Edinburgh University and a degree of Doctor of Philosophy from Cambridge University. In 1952 he started work at the Ruakura Animal Research Station and was appointed Director of Ruakura in 1964, a position he held until his retirement in 1978. Dr Edgar's scientific stature in the field of veterinary science was manifest in his published works and his many academic appointments and memberships, including Visiting Professor at Cornell University, Fellow of the National Academy of Sciences of the USA, Fellow of the New Zealand Institute of Agricultural Science, Churchill Fellow and McLaughlan Fellow. He was made an Honorary Life Member of the New Zealand Society of Animal Production in 1978 in recognition of his contribution to this field of research, and he was awarded the Queen's Service Order in 1979 in recognition of his extensive public service, which included significant contributions to the New Zealand Veterinary Association, the Veterinary Faculty Board of Massey University, the New Zealand Herd Improvement Council, the New Zealand Wool Board Advisory Panel, the Skellerup Young Farmer of the Year competition, the New Zealand National Fieldays Society and the Waikato Branch of the Economics Society. Dr Edgar was a strong supporter of the original establishment of the University of Waikato, a member of the University Council for a period in the 1970s and Director of the Environmental Studies Unit in the early 1980s.

Caroline Bennett was awarded the degree of Honorary Doctor of the University of Waikato on 25 June 2004 in recognition of her life-long commitment and dedication to education and her outstanding contribution to the University of Waikato as a Council member (1991-2002) and Chancellor (1998-2002). Dr Bennett has a Bachelor of Science degree from Otago University and began her career as a teacher in Rotorua in the 1960s, steadily achieving promotion in recognition of her skill and dedication to teaching and learning. While at Rotorua Girls' High School, and in response to an approach by the Te Arawa community, she facilitated a new programme for Māori students to promote learning in and through Te Reo Māori, taking up the challenge herself by enrolling in the University of Waikato's first intake of the Certificate of Māori Studies. These experiences had a profound effect on Dr Bennett's understanding of the central role of Te Reo Māori in promoting the status of Māori people in Aotearoa New Zealand. Her personal commitment to life-long learning continued, with Dr Bennett completing the qualifications of Diploma of Education, Bachelor of Education and Master of Educational Administration while pursuing her teaching career. She has achieved high recognition by her peers, appointed Dame Jean Herbison Fellow in 1992, Honorary Fellow of the New Zealand Educational Administration Society in 1996 and a Ministerial appointee to the Bay of Plenty Conservation Board 1993-1996. She has been Principal of Fairfield College since 1996.

Apirana Tūāhae Mahuika of Ngāti Porou was awarded the degree of Honorary Doctor of the University of Waikato on 31 July 2004 in recognition of his longstanding support of the University of Waikato and his significant contribution to the development of positive race relations in New Zealand. Dr Mahuika has a Master of Arts degree from the University of Sydney, and has taught at Victoria and Massey Universities. He prepared as an Anglican priest, a role he combines more ecumenically today with his widespread duties as an iwi leader. Dr Mahuika is a person of stature in diplomacy and leadership, renowned for his exemplary oratory skills in both Māori and English. He is a long-standing supporter of the University of Waikato, and constantly strives to strengthen the links between the University and the Tairāwhiti/East Coast region. Dr Mahuika was a founding member, and is the current Chair of Te Rōpū Manukura, which was established with the aim of ensuring that the University meets the tertiary needs of the sixteen iwi groups in its region. He also chairs the Rūnanga o Ngāti Porou which has recently joined the University of Waikato in a formal arrangement for adult education in the Ngāti Porou region. Dr Mahuika was a Research Fellow at the University of Waikato's Centre for Māori Studies and Research in 1987. Dr Mahuika's educative work with people incarcerated in prisons is well known and has been formally recognised by the New Zealand Police, who named a training wing after him, at the Police College at Porirua. He is very knowledgeable in tribal lore and whakapapa, a respected leader and a mentor to many Māori youth.
